FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE – (Kalamazoo, Michigan)

American Airlines 3rd daily flight began serving the Kalamazoo/Battle Creek International Airport (AZO) on April 3rd, increasing the airline's travel options from two to three flights per day.

The schedule addition offers the addition of a daily midday flight option for travelers in the community whose options previously included only morning and evening flights through American Airlines.

The three flights are generally scheduled as follows:

| AA Flight | Depart AZO | Arrive Chicago |
|------------------|-------------------|-----------------------|
| Morning          | 7:00 A.M.         | 7:17 A.M.             |
| Midday           | 12:15 P.M.        | 12:32 P.M.            |
| Evening          | 7:23 P.M.         | 7:40 P.M.             |

“We are excited about this increase from two to three flights a day by American Airlines,” said Craig Williams, Airport Director. “These additional flights will make for a more convenient travel experience with broader and better connection options, better fits for the traveler’s schedule, and allow greater flexibility and less stress overall.”

American Airlines and its partners offer southwest Michigan travelers nonstop service to Chicago’s O’Hare International Airport (ORD) and one-stop connections to more than 150 domestic and international destinations via ORD. With this third daily flight and the future planned introduction of larger airplanes, American Airlines is committed to serving southwest Michigan.
